Keep seeking me that is when you will find me. Don't give up so easily. I want you to humble yourselves before me and truly tell me what is on your hearts.

The time is coming and it won't be long when you will notice changes happening on this earth.

Some may get scared and wonder what is going on but, I will be the one in control and if it takes a move from above to shake this earth...then I will have to do something to prove that I AM the one who will make the difference from now on.

IF you don't change your ways and repent, I will have no choice but to forsake anyone who doesn't want to know me.
